Report on One Day Seminar on PCOD/PCOS

Organised by Health and Safety Committee

In Association With

IQAC, Srikrishna College, Bagula

Date- 04/03/2025

PCOD is a hormonal condition that affects approximately 5- 10% of women in their childbearing ages (12 to 45-years). While the prevalence of PCOD differs, it affects around 9% to 22% of Indian women. The numbers are about 2% to 7% in China and Sri Lanka. So, now a day it becomes a matter of concern. The lack of awareness on this is one of main reason for not stopping it's increment rate. Therefore, to grow awareness among students Health and safety committee of Srikrishna college arranged this seminar in association with IQAC of this college.

This seminar was successfully held on 3rd March, 2025 at Michale Madhusudhan Hall (room No. 42), Srikrishna college from 12:00 noon to 2:30 pm. The dignitaries who graced the occasion include Associate Prof. (Dr.) Anamika Chakraborty, IQAC Co-ordinator, Associate Prof. (Dr.) Debatra Dey, one of the joint Secretary of platinum jubilee Celebration Committee, Associate Prof. Mahuya Ghosh, One of the Senior Professor of Srikrishna College, and Shri Bishnu Ranjan Dey, one of the joint Secretary of platinum jubilee Celebration Committee. Apart from them an encouraging number of respected faculty members and librarians had also been there.

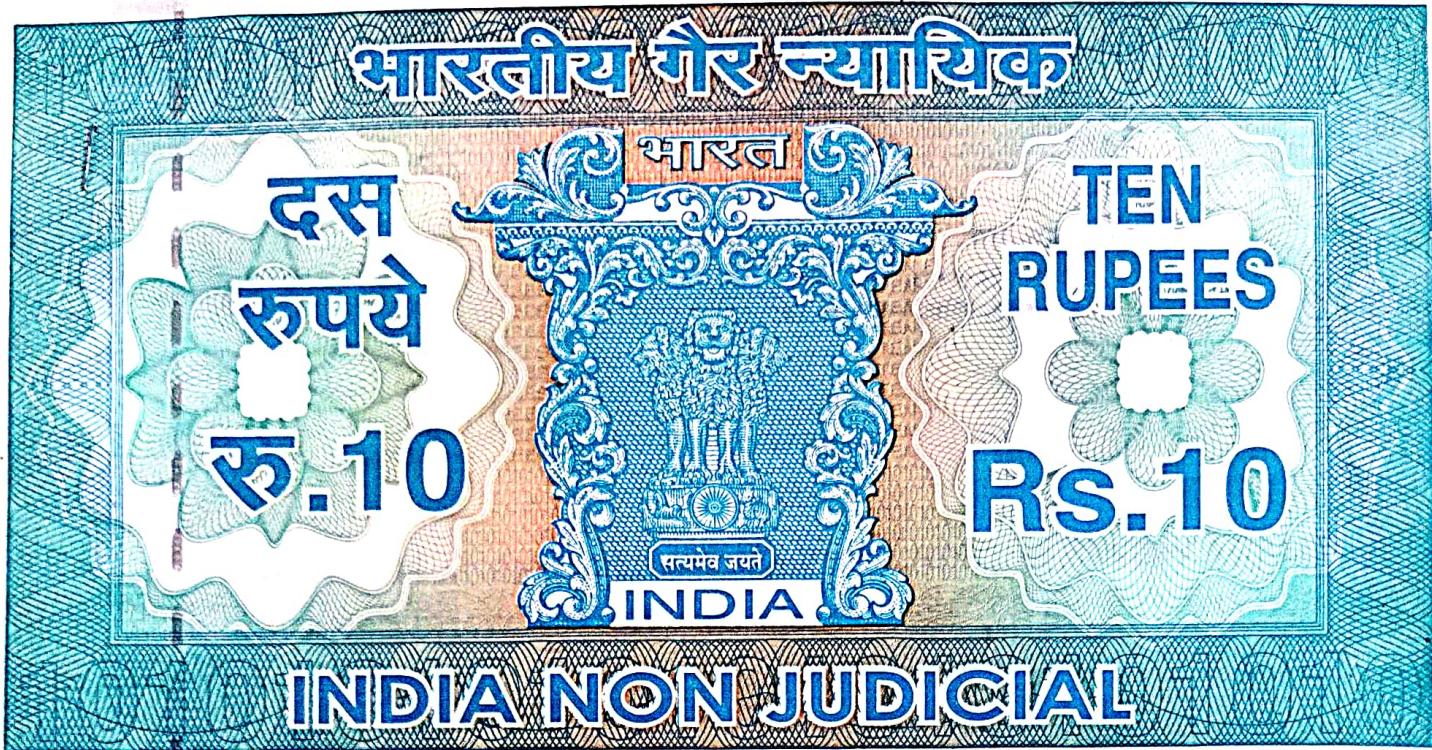

The Chief speaker of the seminar Dr. Aanya Sarkar had an enlightening deliberation on the topic of the seminar in presence of a large number of female students joining from all across the various departments of our college. Dr. Sarkar's extremely important speech followed by a very productive interactive session in which students got a free opportunity to ask various questions on the topic. There was no doubt that the students have visibly and directly been benefited by this seminar.

Lastly Mr. Avishek Saha, one of the joint convenors of Health and Safety committee, Srikrishna college expressing gratitude to all stakeholders delivered the vote of thanks. The success of the program reflects the commitment of the Health and Safety unit in fostering holistic development among the students regarding awareness on PCOD. As the college continues its journey in providing quality education and holistic development, such initiatives will undoubtedly contribute to the overall growth and enlightenment of the student community. The Health and Safety unit expresses its gratitude to all the speakers, panellists, and volunteers who contributed to the success of the event and also take oath to arrange more such awareness programme in recent future regarding more health issues.
